This week and Heads Up

Maths: This week we have thought about percentages. Here's a problem that you might want to consider with your child.

Teddy says,

To convert a fraction to a percentage, you just need to put a percent sign next to the numerator.

Is Teddy correct? Explain your answer.

English: Hooray! Our stories are now finished and ready to be typed up. We're looking forward to receiving emails over the weekend (before Wednesday) with your child's story. (Please, as always, remind them to punctuate properly and proof-read to find any spelling mistakes!)

Topic: We've been working on our pop-up books. They're currently looking fab. Just a few finishing touches before they're ready to be displayed in the exhibition next Wednesday.

Pause Day: On Tuesday, we are having our Pause Day - a great opportunity to think about the Easter Story in more detail. King's Church Guildford, Christ Church and Guildford Family Church are coming in to run some workshops with us. We'll also be visiting PD to hand Bibles to Y2. Monday (5C) and Thursday (5L and 5S): We'll be having science days. We're hoping they're going to be lots of fun and that the children will learn many interesting things!

Dear Parents,

A big well done to all of the children who brought in a piece of art work for the House Art Competition this week. It was wonderful to have the opportunity to talk about art with the children and celebrate the fantastic pieces that children created. Well done to all of our finalists!

We would like some parent helpers to help us walk to the church service on Wednesday 3rd April in the morning. We'll be leaving school just after the register and getting back before lunch. Please email your class teacher - so far we haven't had any help.

We hope that many parents will be able to come to school on Wednesday 3rd April to view our Space Exhibition. The exhibition will be open from 2:45 and until 4pm. Please collect children from classrooms first before heading over to the chapel with them. The children's work will be sent home on Thursday.

Have a great weekend!

Love, Catherine, Laura and Sue. X

Brenscombe

Hopefully by now all of the parents that could not make it to our information evening have received a .pdf document with some notes on.

Along with the JTLYK this week, we have handed out some other letters. There is an information letter and kit list (you keep both of these) and two medical forms (both of these need to be filled out and returned to the office). Please note that another medical form will be sent home just before the trip to note any changes.

We still have some children who do not seem to be signed up to come on the trip yet. We have given these children an extra letter today. As always, please speak to Clare B in confidence if there are any financial concerns.

Joke of the Week:

Q: Why couldn't the astronaut book a room on the Moon?

A: Because it was full!

Spellings

This week the children worked through their English books to identify ten spellings that they had spelled incorrectly across the year so far. Some of these words might be words that they always misspell, or just one-off words.

They then compiled their own list. They have written this list down and have taken it home this week. They will need to learn these ten words. Next Wednesday, they will be in partners and will test each other to find a score out of ten.

Annual Easter Garden Competition

The annual Easter garden competition will be next Monday at lunchtime. The children will need to bring in any bits and pieces to make their Easter gardens. Please do not allow your child to bring sweets etc. We just want them to use natural materials. Last year we had some beautiful creations. It would be wonderful to see some Year 5 creations this year too!

Homework

This week, we would like the children to type up their tension-building stories so that we can create three class books for the exhibition.

The children's English books have been photocopied and attached to this JTLYK. The stories need to be typed up and sent to their class teacher before Wednesday (so that they can be ready for the exhibition on Wednesday).

If typing the story up at home is going to be a problem, please contact us and we can arrange time for your child to type it up during school.
