Just To Let You Know

01.05.26

Dear Parents & Carers,

During our preparation for the upcoming SATs (wc 11th May), the children have been focused and keen to do their best. We are very proud of their composure and determined attitude throughout all of our revision sessions.

Wishing you a lovely Bank Holiday Weekend – see you on Tuesday!

History

This week, we began exploring the cottage industries that many families relied on in the 1750s to earn a little extra money for essentials like food and clothing. The children have been learning about traditional crafts such as straw weaving and rag weaving, and over the next few weeks, they'll have the chance to try these activities for themselves. It's a welcome and enjoyable break from the intense revision they've been working so hard on!

Upcoming Dates

Thursday 7th May -> Class photos

Mon 11th—Thurs 14th May -> SATs Week

Fri 15th May -> Shalford Park Day - post-SATs treat

Mon 25th— Fri 29th May -> Half Term

Mon 15th—Fri 19th June -> Preston Montford

Mon 22nd June -> Midsummer Holiday

Spellings

amateur, bruise, competition, definite, equipped, explanation, familiar, government, signature, stomach

These are some of the statutory spelling words! We will test these spellings on Tuesday 5th May.

Homework update

Due to SATs week, we will not be giving out homework next week or during SATs week.

The children are continuing to work very hard at school, however, there are a number of ways they can continue preparing at home:

- Test spellings from the Year 5 & 6 spelling list that was sent home (you can also find this online) and discuss different rules.
- Revise maths using your child's Maths Facts homework book and visit the Corbett maths website (<https://corbettmaths.com/5-a-day/primary/>)
- Ask comprehension questions whilst reading with your child.
- Have a go at some KS2 Arithmetic and Reasoning questions on <https://mathsbot.com/primaryMenu>
